

Index of Ship's Names

A NOTE ON THE USE OF THE INDEXES

A dagregister (diary) covers the year that an opperhoofd is in office and usually runs from October/November of one year to those months of the next. In order to simplify the indexes, we refer to the year which covers the greater part of the dagregister, e.g. 1741 refers to the 1740-1741 dagregister. Since there are two separate dagregisters for 1800, the second kept by Opperhoofd Wardenaar is referred to as 1800.

The page numbers given are those of the original manuscript. These numbers are printed in small italics in the margins of the columns of the text and provide easy access to the originals.

Western names are listed as they are found in the manuscripts. Japanese names are listed as they are found in the manuscripts, unless they could be identified in Japanese sources. In the latter case, the Hepburn transcription has been used.
