

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The origins of this book lie in my PhD thesis which was submitted to the University of Wales in 1988. I should like to express my deep gratitude to my supervisor, Professor E.D. Brown, University of Wales, for his unfailing support and expert guidance during my years of postgraduate research, without which this work would not have been possible.

Another person to whom I am profoundly indebted, is Dr. Theodore Halkiopoulos, Special Legal Advisor to the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of Greece, who provided me with substantive information concerning the negotiations at the Third United Nations Conference on the Law of the Sea and the Council of Europe on the underwater cultural heritage issue, and has willingly offered constructive advice over the years.

Special thanks are also due to the following persons for their helpful cooperation: Dr. Robert G. Critchlow, The Steamship Mutual Underwriting Association Limited; Ms. Angela Croome, Deputy Editor and Reviews Editor of the International Journal of Nautical Archaeology; Lady Fox QC, General Editor, International and Comparative Law Quarterly; Professor Krateros Ioannou, Democritus University of Thrace; Mr. Carsten Lund, Head of Cultural History Division, Ministry of the Environment, Denmark; Dr. Patrick J. O'Keefe, Consultant on National Cultural Heritage Law; Professor Lyndel V. Prott, Chief of the International Standards Section, Cultural Heritage Division, UNESCO; Professor Emmanuel Roucouas, University of Athens, and Professor Alfred H.A. Soons, Director of the Netherlands Institute for the Law of the Sea. In particular, I should like to thank Professor James A.R. Nafziger, Wilamette University, for our most stimulating discussions and, above all else, for his invaluable help and encouragement.

The staff of the following libraries also deserve my gratitude for their assistance and tolerance: UWIST Law Library, The Institute of Advanced Legal Studies, University College London, Department of Classics, and the National Museum of Wales.

Finally, I am grateful to Ms. Annebeth Rosenboom, Martinus Nijhoff Publishers, for her patience and understanding while I was preparing the manuscript for publication.
