

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

PIETER H.F. BEKKER (LL.B., Ph.D. (Int'l Law), Leiden University, The Netherlands; LL.M., Harvard Law School) is a Dutch attorney in the International Arbitration Group at White & Case LLP, the New York City based global law firm (<www.whitecase.com>), and is a former staff lawyer in the Registry of the International Court of Justice (1992-1994). He serves as ICJ Reporter for The American Society of International Law, whose 94th Annual Meeting he co-chaired in April 2000. He is the author of two books – The Legal Position of Intergovernmental Organizations – A Functional Necessity Analysis of Their Legal Status and Immunities (1994) and, as editor and principal author, Commentaries on World Court Decisions (1987-1996) (1998) – published by Martinus Nijhoff Publishers/Kluwer Law International and of numerous articles and shorter notes on international law and adjudication.

The views expressed in this book are those of the author in his individual capacity and not of The American Society of International Law or any national or international organization, institution, law firm or governmental body with which the author was or currently is affiliated.

This book generally conforms to the style of the American Journal of International Law published by the American Society of International Law.
