

Acknowledgements

This book could not have been written without the encouragement and generous funding of the International Save the Children Alliance. In particular I am grateful to Nicholas Hinton, Hans Christian Brugge and Thomas Hammarberg for their support, generosity and access to Alliance documentation and personnel. I also benefited from the comments and advice from those working for Save the Children U.K.: Andrew Hutchinson, Francis Moore, Peter Poore, Mo Linney and Chris Saunders. Gratitude is also due to Ian Brownlie Q.C., Anthony Lester Q.C., Peter Ashman, and the European Human Rights Foundation for their support when this book was only in its embryonic stage.

During the drafting of the Convention on the Rights of the Child and other international instruments I had the privilege of representing Amnesty International. I am indebted to Nigel Rodley and to the sadly missed Alan Grounds and Martin Ennals for their encouragement.

Patricia Light and Marjorie Newman-Black of the United Nations Childrens Fund, Richard Stainsby of the United Nations High Commission for Refugees, Mark Belsey of the World Health Organisation, Francoise Krill of the International Committee of the Red Cross all gave generously of their time and provided me with valuable material, as did Mark Neville and Margaret Killerby of the Council of Europe, Adair Dyer and Hans van Loon of the Hague Conference of Private International Law.

I am also grateful to Nigel Cantwell, Beverly Edmonds, Dan O'Donnell, Florence Bruce, Simone Ek and to all the other members of the NGO ad hoc Working Group on the Convention on the Rights of the Child. Rosalyn Higgins Q.C., Brian Burdekin, Jo Boyden, Francoise Hampson, Jane Connors, Malfrid Flekkoy, Michael Freeman, Judith Ennew, Alec Fyfe, Susan Wolfson, Philip Veerman and Susan Alexander kindly contributed advice or material.

Whilst writing this book I was fortunate to have had access to the libraries of the Royal Institute of International Affairs, the Institute of Advanced Legal Studies, the United Nations Childrens Fund, the World Health Organisation and the International Committee of the Red Cross. I am also grateful to my colleagues in the Faculty of Laws, Queen Mary and Westfield College for their support.

Once again I am grateful for the enthusiasm, support and expertise of Nijhoff, in particular, Lindy Melman, Alan Stephens and Margreet Sjoerts. Finally, I want to thank my mother which will give her much nuchas, my late father, my family on both sides of the Atlantic, Iris and Len Levy, Hazel Summerfield, Paul Slagel, Peter Scholl, Lesley and Mike Bailey and James Michael to whom this book is dedicated.
