This book is the abridgement of a doctoral dissertation accepted by the University of Liège in May 1995. Without Professor Hena Maes-Jelinek's unflagging stamina and critical competence, the present study, let alone the dissertation on which it is based, might never have been completed. I wish to express here my deepest gratitude to Hena, who has now become a dear friend. In their own stoical ways, my wife, Lamia, and my children, Bruno and Miranda, also contributed to the completion of this work. Thank you as well to Gordon Collier for his colossal 'subediting' work and his uncanny capacity to empathize with critical concerns often very different from his own.
