

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This work is for my late, beloved mother, Dagmar Adeline Halsted, who first instilled in me, even as a child, a love of the Scriptures.

Fr Karl Plötz SJ and the late-lamented Fr Fabrizio Forresti OCarm helped me to learn Hebrew at the Pontifical Biblical Institute. Fr Jean-Louis Ska SJ helped foster in me the literary approach to the study of the Bible, and provided much critical stimulus. Fr John Navone SJ, Fr Gerry O'Collins SJ and Fr Fred Brenk SJ always gave me their friendship and support. Dr Johann Cook encouraged me at my lowpoint. Fr Gerard Norton OP at the École Biblique helped me to find the right room to live in and kindly read my work in its early stages. Fr Jerry Murphy-O'Connor OP and Fr Benedict Viviano OP were always good companions. Fr Jean-Marie Guillaume SMA, Gill Munro, and Bob and Pam Rognlien supported me in Jerusalem with their friendship, as did the late and sorely missed Patrick Le Palud who inducted me into the mysteries of computers. Marcel Sigrist OP was generous enough to allow me the use of a computer in the early days. Fr John Kenny later helped me to find my own. Fr Martin Thompson, Fr Edward McKenna, Stephen Wilson and Guilio Vallini-Celeste were so kind during my days at the Casa Internazionale del Clero in Rome, where I enjoyed wonderful hospitality.

My thanks go, firstly, to Fr Charles Conroy MSC of the Pontifical Gregorian University for his generous supervision, penetrating criticism and perfect punctiliousness, and, secondly, to my cousin Terry Letellier of Fulmer who stood by me and assisted me in my need. Without them I could not have completed this work.

Dr David Orton of E.J. Brill has been a prompt, precise and gentlemanly editor; I am so grateful to him.
