

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Working alone, I understood little;
from others, I learned much.

I thank the following publishers: (1) Bucknell University Press for use of material published in my article, "The Aesthetics of Ruins," Bucknell Review, edited by Harry R. Garvin, 18:3 (Winter 1970), pp. 89–102. (2) Editions Rodopi, B. V., of Amsterdam, and Königshausen & Neumann of Würzburg, for use of material published in my chapter, "Aesthetic Qualities in the Experience of the Ruin," Aesthetic Quality and Aesthetic Experience, edited by Michael H. Mitias ("Elementa," 1988), pp. 165–176. (3) Punch Cartoon Library for reprinting the cartoon by Handelsman from Punch (3 February 1982), p. 203, © Punch, Ltd.

The Pennsylvania State University generously provided grants for the pursuit of meditation, the conduct of fieldwork, and the development of photography. Jude P. Dougherty, Dean of the School of Philosophy, The Catholic University of America, Washington, graciously extended the research resources of his institution to me. The International Center for the Arts, Humanities, and Value Inquiry genially supported the project at its extensive facilities adjacent to Washington.

Sam Brawand studied the entire text and then scanned and corrected it for my revision. Peter A. Redpath, Executive Editor of the Value Inquiry Book Series, judiciously assessed every page and generously assisted me in following the high standards of style and format that characterize VIBS. I could not have had a more understanding, learned, and helpful editor. Eric van Broekhuizen, my mentor in publishing, reviewed the text and illustrations, gave invaluable professional advice about the preparation of this complex book, and then skillfully supervised its production.

Michael Keller of Community Printing Service, Washington, and Daniel Meijer of Danco, Silver Spring, Maryland, USA, provided technical assistance.

The following colleagues have given a sympathetic hearing to parts of this book and have responded with criticism and encouragement: Donald W. Crawford, Artem Droujinenko, Stockwell Everts, William Gerber, Howard B. Ginsberg, Carl R. Hausman, Florence M. Hetzler, Minnie Kirstein, Helen Luts, Joseph Luts, Christel McDonald, Mara Miller, Michael H. Mitias, Marian Olin, Gail Kern Paster, Barbara Sandrisser, Claire Richter Sherman, Daniel J. Sherman, Stanley M. Sherman, Warren E. Steinkraus, John D. Vairo, Leslie E. Van Marter, Donald Phillip Verene, Max Wilson.

This book, as most of my life, has been made possible by my dearest colleague, Ellen S. Ginsberg, the we of me, to whom it, and my life, are dedicated.
