

Activist Pedagogy and Shared Education in Divided Societies

Moral Development and Citizenship Education

Series Editors

Wiel Veugelaers (University of Humanistic Studies, Utrecht, The Netherlands)

Kirsi Tirri (University of Helsinki, Finland)

Founding Editor

Fritz Oser†

Editorial Board

Nimrod Aloni (Kibbutzim College of Education, Tel Aviv, Israel)

Marvin Berkowitz (University of Missouri–St. Louis, USA)

Horst Biedermann (St. Gallen University of Teacher Education, Switzerland)

Maria Rosa Buxarraís (University of Barcelona, Spain)

Helen Haste (University of Bath, UK/Harvard University, USA)

Dana Moree (Charles University, Prague, Czech Republic)

Clark Power (University of Notre Dame, USA)

Jasmine Sim (National Institute of Education, Singapore)

Joel Westheimer (University of Ottawa, Canada)

VOLUME 17

The titles published in this series are listed at brill.com/mora

Activist Pedagogy and Shared Education in Divided Societies

International Perspectives and Next Practices

Edited by

Dafna Yitzhaki, Tony Gallagher, Nimrod Aloni and Zehavit Gross

BRILL

LEIDEN | BOSTON

Cover illustration: Artwork and photograph by David Wakstein

All chapters in this book have undergone peer review.

The Library of Congress Cataloging-in-Publication Data is available online at <https://catalog.loc.gov>

Typeface for the Latin, Greek, and Cyrillic scripts: "Brill". See and download: brill.com/brill-typeface.

ISSN 2352-5770

ISBN 978-90-04-51272-6 (paperback)

ISBN 978-90-04-51273-3 (hardback)

ISBN 978-90-04-51274-0 (e-book)

Copyright 2022 by Koninklijke Brill NV, Leiden, The Netherlands.

Koninklijke Brill NV incorporates the imprints Brill, Brill Nijhoff, Brill Hotei, Brill Schöningh, Brill Fink, Brill mentis, Vandenhoeck & Ruprecht, Böhlau Verlag and V&R Unipress.

All rights reserved. No part of this publication may be reproduced, translated, stored in a retrieval system, or transmitted in any form or by any means, electronic, mechanical, photocopying, recording or otherwise, without prior written permission from the publisher. Requests for re-use and/or translations must be addressed to Koninklijke Brill NV via brill.com or copyright.com.

This book is printed on acid-free paper and produced in a sustainable manner.

To Gavriel Salomon
(12 October 1938–4 January 2016) academic leader and social activist for peace education and shared life

Contents

List of Figures and Tables XI

Notes on Contributors XII

Introduction 1

Dafna Yitzhaki, Tony Gallagher, Nimrod Aloni and Zehavit Gross

PART 1

Educating for a Democratic-Multicultural Citizenship

- 1 Empowering Agency in the Ethical, Political, and the Teaching/Learning Spheres of Education: An Integrative Model of Activist Pedagogy 15

Nimrod Aloni

- 2 Teaching Controversial Issues as Part of Education for Democratic Intercultural Citizenship 32

Wiel Veugelers and Jaap Schuitema

- 3 Towards Educating Teachers as Advocators: A Conceptual Discussion and a Historical Example 49

Jaime Grinberg

- 4 Democratic Citizenship Education as an Activist Pedagogy: Towards the Cultivation of Democratic Justice on the African Continent 65

Yusef Waghid

- 5 Educating for Democratic Citizenship: Arabic in Israeli Higher Education as a Case in Point 77

Smadar Donitsa-Schmidt, Muhammad Amara and Abd Al-Rahman Mar'i

PART 2

Enhancing Models of Shared Learning

- 6 Turning Research into Policy: The Experience of Shared Education in Northern Ireland 93

Tony Gallagher, Gavin Duffy and Gareth Robinson

- 7 “Moving into Hebrew Is Natural”: Jewish and Arab Teachers in a Shared Education Project 106
Dafna Yitzhaki
- 8 Shared Learning in the Context of Conflict 124
Shany Payes and Shula Mola
- 9 Jewish-Arab Bilingual Education in Israel 136
Assaf Meshulam
- 10 Minority EFL Teachers on Shared-Life Education in Conflict-Ridden Contexts: The Subaltern Speaks Back 154
Muzna Awayed-Bishara

PART 3

Nurturing Intercultural Competencies

- 11 Contestation as an Innovative Construct for Conflict Management and Activist Pedagogy 171
Zehavit Gross
- 12 “Thou Shalt Not Be a Bystander”: Holocaust and Genocide Education with a Gendered, Universal Lens, as a Path to Empathy and Courage 187
Lori Weintrob
- 13 Internationalization for Nurturing Intercultural Communicative Competencies in Pre-Service Teachers 203
Beverley Topaz and Tina Waldman
- 14 Developing Culturally Proficient Global Peace Education Changemaker Educators for Culturally Diverse Schools and Classrooms 216
Reyes L. Quezada

PART 4

Reconciling Dialogue in the Face of Conflicting Narratives

- 15 The Holocaust and Its Teaching in Israel in View of the Conflict: General and Pedagogical Implications and Lessons 233
Daniel Bar-Tal and Galiya Bar-Tal

- 16 Teaching History and Citizenship in Schools in Northern Ireland 253
Gavin Duffy, Tony Gallagher and Gareth Robinson
- 17 Successful Failure: A Dual Narrative Approach to History Education: An Israeli Palestinian Project 271
Eyal Naveh
- 18 The Narrative Approach to Shared Education: Insights from Jerusalem 286
Myriam Darmoni-Charbit and Noa Shapira
- 19 Imagined Communities: Staging Shared Society in Israel 305
Lee Perlman and Sinai Peter
- 20 Arts as a Sphere for the Study of History 320
Philipp Schmidt-Rhaesa, Jürgen Scheffler and Lilach Naishtat-Bornstein
- Concluding Notes: Towards an Activist Pedagogy 335
Tony Gallagher, Nimrod Aloni, Dafna Yitzhaki and Zehavit Gross

Figures and Tables

Figures

- 8.1 Shared Education work frame (developed by Mira Monayer and Shany Payes). 127
- 8.2 Mira Monayer, at the Eitan Frid (Darca) English Center, Ramle, 2017. 130
- 14.1 Cultural proficiency continuum. 223
- 19.1 Return to Haifa, the Cameri Theatre, 2008. Dov “the soldier” with his biological parents from Ramallah. From left to right: Norman Issa, Erez Kahana and Mira Awad (photo by Moshe Shai). 310
- 20.1 The Frenkel House memorial. 324
- 20.2 “The Tree in the Back Yard” 1 (photo by Anna Maria Schneider during the first rehearsal in the courtyard in September 2013, and during the performance in May 2014). 327
- 20.3 “The Tree in the Back Yard” 2 (photo by Anna Maria Schneider during the first rehearsal in the courtyard in September 2013, and during the performance in May 2014). 328
- 20.4 “The Tree in the Back Yard” 3 (photo by Anna Maria Schneider during the first rehearsal in the courtyard in September 2013, and during the performance in May 2014). 328
- 20.5 “The Tree in the Back Yard” 4 (photo by Anna Maria Schneider during the first rehearsal in the courtyard in September 2013, and during the performance in May 2014). 329

Tables

- 7.1 Challenges and opportunities for teachers in Shared Education in conflictual contexts. 110
- 9.1 Jewish-Arab bilingual schools in Israel 2019–2020 (updated data were provided by the Jewish-Arab NGOs). 138

Notes on Contributors

Nimrod Aloni

is a professor of Philosophy of Education at Kibbutzim College of Education, Israel. He holds the UNESCO Chair in Humanistic Education and authored ten books and many articles and book chapters in the area of humanistic education. In 2004 he was awarded “Knight of Quality Government” by the Movement for Quality Government in Israel and in 2021 he was awarded the Distinguished Alumni Award from Teachers College – Columbia University.

Muhammad Amara

is a full professor of Linguistics at the Academic College of Beit Berl, Israel. His academic interests include language education, language policy, sociolinguistics, bilingual education, language and politics, linguistic landscape, and collective identities. His recent publications include: Language, identity and conflict (Routledge, 2018); My language is my identity: Towards a comprehensive language policy to meet the challenges of Arabic in Israel (Dar-Al-Huda and Dar Al-Fiker, 2020).

Muzna Awayed-Bishara

has a PhD in Linguistics from the Department of English Language and Literature at Haifa University. She is a senior faculty member in the Program for Multilingual Education at Tel Aviv University. She studies the intersection between English teacher and intercultural communication in conflict-ridden contexts. She is the author of the book EFL pedagogy as cultural discourse: Textbooks, practice, and policy for Arabs and Jews in Israel.

Daniel Bar-Tal

is a professor emeritus at the School of Education, Tel Aviv University. His research interest is in political and social psychology studying socio-psychological foundations of intractable conflicts and peace building, as well as development of political understanding among children and peace education. He has published over twenty-five books and over two hundred and fifty articles and chapters in major social and political psychological journals, books and encyclopaedias. He served as a president of the International Society of Political Psychology and received various awards for his academic achievements.

Galiya Bar-Tal

graduated cum laude from a high school in 2020. She spent a year in the pre-military leadership academy of Givat Haviva and is currently doing her mandatory military service in the Israeli Defense Force.

Myriam Darmoni-Charbit served as the Director of Civic and Shared Society Education at the Center for Educational technology (2006–2020). With her team, she led the design and implementation efforts of Shared Education in Israel and, in particular, in Jerusalem.

Smadar Donitsa-Schmidt

is an associate professor at the Kibbutzim College of Education in Israel. Her PhD in Educational Linguistics is from the Ontario Institute for Studies in Education (OISE) at Toronto University. At KCE she serves as the Dean of the Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences. She is also the chief editor of Dapim, the main refereed journal of teacher education in Israel. Her publications focus on initial teacher education, teacher professional development, policy in higher education, and learning in multicultural societies.

Gavin Duffy

is a lecturer in Educational Leadership at Queen's University Belfast. His academic interests include education in divided society contexts, shared education, the social and educational impact of school collaboration, educational leadership and the various forms of school exclusion. His recent work has appeared in the Journal of Educational Change and Emotional and Behavioural Difficulties.

Tony Gallagher

is a professor of Education at Queen's University Belfast, and former Head of the School of Education and Pro Vice Chancellor. His main research interests lie in the role of education in divided societies, collaborative school networks, and the civic and democratic role of higher education. He has authored ten books and over 100 book chapters or academic journal articles and attracted over £10m in external research grants.

Jaime Grinberg

is a full professor of Educational Foundations at Montclair State University. His PhD is from Michigan State University. At Montclair, he served as Chairperson, Director of the Educational Foundations for Elementary Teachers program, acting Associate Dean for Academic Affairs, and Director of the New Jersey Network for Educational Renewal, a school-university partnership involving 23 school districts. His books and essays focus on philosophical, socio-historical, cultural, and political foundations of education.

Zehavit Gross

is a full professor of Education. She holds the UNESCO Chair in Education for Human Values, Tolerance Democracy and Peace, Faculty of Education, Bar Ilan University, Israel. She is the former president of the Israeli Society for Comparative Education (ICES) and currently participating in four international research projects.

Abed Al-Rahman Mar'i is a senior lecturer at Beit Berl Academic College, Israel. His academic interests include medieval Hebrew literature, language education, the teaching of Hebrew as a second language among Arab schools in Israel, the linguistic influences between Arabic and Hebrew in Israel. His books include Walla Bseder: A linguistic profile of Israeli-Arabs (2013); A great language: Integration of Arabic into Israeli Hebrew (2020).

Assaf Meshulam

is a senior lecturer in the Department of Education at Ben-Gurion University. His main research interest is the relation between education and power, focusing on education for democracy and social justice. His recent work has appeared in British Journal of Sociology of Education, Comparative Education Review, Discourse: Studies in the Cultural Politics of Education, and International Journal of Bilingual Education and Bilingualism.

Shula Mola

is a postdoctoral fellow at the Schusterman Center for Israel Studies at Brandeis University. She worked at the Centre for Educational Technology (CET) as on-line and off-line content developer, as well as leading teacher training workshops on the topics of racism, human rights, and Shared Learning in Israel.

Lilach Naishtat-Bornstein is a scholar, artist, and educator. She teaches at the Kibbutzim College of Education and was a visiting scholar in the Department of Comparative Literature, Harvard University (2019–2020). Her recent books are The song of songs and the poetics of romantic fragment (Resling, 2019), and Contemplative pedagogy in training teachers (co-edited with N. Bar-Yosef Paz), forthcoming in 2022.

Eyal Naveh

is professor emeritus of history at Tel Aviv University and at the Kibbutzim College of Education. Currently he is the head of the Academic Council at the Kibbutzim College of Education. Naveh is the founder and the chairperson of the Israeli Institute of History Education. He was the coordinator and adviser of the Israeli-Palestinian two narratives history project.

Shany Payes

is co-director of Shared Learning at CET, the Centre for Educational Technology, Israel. Shany is a graduate of St. Antony's College, Oxford, where she received her PhD in Middle Eastern Studies, and a graduate of Mandel School of Educational Leadership. Her book, Palestinian NGOs in Israel: The politics of civil society, was published by IB Tauris in 2006.

Lee Perlman

is a Tel Aviv-based associate of Brandeis University's International Center for Ethics, Justice and Public Life. His PhD is from Tel Aviv University. He researches arts, politics and cultural policy and co-leads IMPACT, a global initiative building the Arts, Culture and Conflict Transformation (ACCT) field. He is the author of But Abu Ibrahim, we're family! (Tami Steinmetz Center for Peace Research, Tel Aviv University, 2017), a critical study on Jewish and Palestinian theatre cooperation in Israel.

Sinai Peter

graduated from the Theater Department of Tel Aviv University. He acted in several repertory and fringe theaters as well as in films and TV. He directed in some of the main and fringe theaters in Israel and in Theater J and Mosaic Theater in Washington DC. He was the artistic director of Haifa Municipal Theater (2000–2005). He teaches theater in colleges in Tel Aviv and in Acre.

Reyes L. Quezada

is a professor at the University of San Diego in California in the School of Leadership and Education Sciences. His doctorate is from Northern Arizona University in Flagstaff, Arizona. His research focus is on cultural proficiency, family-school and community engagement, and international education. He is the editor for Teacher Education Quarterly (TEQ) and serves on the Association for Advancing Quality Educator Programs (AAQEP).

Gareth Robinson

is a research fellow at Queen's University Belfast. His academic interests include transformative potential of education in divided societies; school networks and interschool collaboration; systemic and organizational change; and school improvement. His recent publication appeared in the Journal of Professional Capital and Community.

Jürgen Scheffler

studied history and German literature. Until 2019 he was the director of Lemgo museum with three departments: Hexenbürgermeisterhaus (History), Junkerhaus (Art) and Frenkel-Haus (Memorial). In 2019 he curated "The German-Jewish Dilemma: The Story of the Hochfeld Family from the 18th Century until Today", a cooperation with Johannesburg Holocaust & Genocide Centre.

Philipp Schmidt-Rhaesa is teacher for music, drama and German language and literature at Karla-Raveh-Gesamtschule in Lemgo, Germany. He is the school's manager for cultural education and cooperation.

Jaap Schuitema

is an assistant professor in the Research Institute of Child Development and Education at the University of Amsterdam. His research interests include the moral development of students and citizenship education. He has studied the effectiveness of teaching strategies on students' critical thinking, science skills, and moral reasoning.

Noa Shapira

is a lecturer at the Department of Education and Community at Kinneret College on the Sea of Galilee, Israel. She is also the leader of the Education for Shared Society team at CET, the Centre for Educational Technology, Israel.

Beverley Topaz

is currently a lecturer in the English Department at Kibbutzim College of Education, Tel Aviv, Israel. Her research interests are initial teacher education, intercultural competencies, shared education, professional development, and educational leadership.

Wiel Veugelers

is emeritus professor of education at the University of Humanistic Studies in Utrecht, the Netherlands. He is associate editor of the Journal of Moral Education, editor of the book series Moral Development and Citizenship Education, and member of the Program Advisory Committee of the International Civic and Citizenship Study (ICCS).

Yusef Waghid

is a distinguished professor of philosophy of education at Stellenbosch University in South Africa. He is the author of Education, crisis, and philosophy (Routledge, 2022).

Tina Waldman

is a senior lecturer in the English Teacher Training department at Kibbutzim College of Education, where she teaches courses in language didactics. Her PhD in Applied Linguistics is from Haifa University, Israel. She is the prime compiler of the Israeli learner corpus of written English (ILCoWE), which is an internationally used resource. Her current research interests include social-cultural approaches to foreign language teaching involving intercultural, online collaborative learning.

Lori Weintrob

is the founding director of the Wagner College Holocaust Center and professor of History, in Staten Island, New York. She is co-editor of Beyond bystanders: Educational leadership for a human culture in a globalizing reality (2017) and co-chair of the international symposium Heroines of the Holocaust: New Frameworks of Resistance, among other scholarly writing and projects. She received her BA from Princeton University and her MA and PhD from the University of California, Los Angeles (UCLA).

Dafna Yitzhaki

is a lecturer at Kibbutzim College of Education, Tel-Aviv, Israel. She holds a PhD in Sociolinguistics. Her research interests include multilingualism in education and teaching languages in the context of conflict. Her current research focuses on the implementation of the Northern Ireland Shared Education model in the Israeli context. Her recent book is Education and the Jewish-Palestinian conflict in Israel (co-edited with A. Yuval), forthcoming in 2022.

