

Acknowledgements

The research for this study was commenced in 1982. I was privileged to be received on several occasions by Professor Eleanor P. Spencer at her home in Paris. It is a pleasure to recall now these visits and to record Professor Spencer's kindness and her support for the project.

During my sojourns in New York, Professor John H. Plummer, Curator of Medieval and Renaissance Manuscripts at the Pierpont Morgan Library most generously made time in a busy schedule to discuss with me aspects of the Rolin Master's works.

Encouraging and helpful suggestions about the contents of this study were made to me by Dr Pierre Cockshaw, Conservateur, Cabinet des Manuscrits, Bibliothèque Royale, Brussels and Professor of Art History at the University of Brussels. To him I extend my sincere thanks.

Discussions with other scholars in the field of manuscript illumination have been beneficial to my understanding of the parameters of iconographical studies. In particular, I mention Professor Margaret M. Manion, Herald Professor of Fine Arts in the University of Melbourne, Dr Lilian M.C. Randall, Curator, Department of Manuscripts, Walters Art Gallery, Baltimore; the late Professor James D. Breckenridge of the Department of Art History, Northwestern University, Evanston; Dr Sandra Hindman, formerly of Johns Hopkins University, now in the Department of Art History at Northwestern University.

For assisting me to consult miniatures by the Rolin Master and works relevant to this study, I am indebted to the following: Mr Roger S. Wieck, Houghton Library, Harvard University; Mr Jan Fontein, Director, Museum of Fine Arts, Boston; Mr William Cuffe, Yale University Art Gallery; Mr William Voelke, Pierpont Morgan Library; Dr W.B. Rayward, Dean of the Graduate Library School, University of Chicago; Ms Janet Backhouse, British Library; Mr Michael Bott, Keeper of Archives and Manuscripts, and Catherine I. Reynolds, Department of the History of Art, both of Reading University; M. Georges Dogaer, Conservateur en Chef, and Madame Marguerite Debae and Madame Claudine Lemaire, all of the Bibliothèque Royale, Brussels; M.J. Vervaet, Hoofdconservator, Koninklijk Museum voor Schone Kunsten, Antwerp; Madame Amélie Lefèbvre, Conservateur des Collections, Musée Condé, Chantilly; M. Matthieu Pinette, Conservateur du Musée Rolin, Autun; Madame Marie-Josette Perrat, Conservateur, Bibliothèque Municipale, Autun; M. François Avril, Conservateur, Département des Manuscrits, Bibliothèque Nationale, Paris; Madame Anne-Françoise Labie, Madame Anne-Marie Gènevois and M.A. Vernet of the Institut de Recherche et d'Histoire des Textes, Paris; Madame C. Gleyze, Conservateur en Chef,

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Bibliothèque de la Ville, Lyons; Madame C.A. Chavannes-Mazel, Koninklijke Bibliotheek, The Hague; Madame Klara Garas, Director, Museum of Fine Arts, Budapest; Dr. Otto Mazal and Madame Eva Irblich, of the Österreichische Nationalbibliothek, Vienna; Mr P. Singleton, University of Melbourne Library; Dr N.A.C. Radford, Chief Librarian, University of Sydney Library; Mr M.J. Walkley, Department of French Studies, University of Sydney.

Archbishop Simeon, Metropolitan for Western Europe of the Bulgarian Patriarchate, provided me with introductions to scholars and art historians in several libraries and museums.

I feel that the observations I make from time to time in the study about the Order of Preachers would have been much less informative if I had not received the unstinting help of Fr. Bernard Montagnes O.P. of the Convento S. Sabina (Aventino), Rome.

The transcriptions of extracts from the French Horloge de Sapience, which appear in the footnotes of chapter V, and the edition of the French text of the Déclaration des Hystoires, with an English translation and glossary, are the work of Professor K.V. Sinclair.

The comments and advice of Dr J.P. Gumbert of Leiden University have been most generous and perceptive. His suggestions about the composition of the Brussels codex and the number of hands are gratefully acknowledged.

The production of this volume has been in the skilled hands of the staff of Messrs E.J. Brill of Leiden. I have welcomed their guidance in many matters, not least of which are page lay-outs and photographic reproductions. An anonymous donor has generously met the costs of the plates.

PETER ROLFE MONKS
March, 1987