

Acknowledgments

The author is indebted for permission to use, in whole or in part, the following material as indicated:

“Methodological Problems Facing the International Court of Justice in the Application of International Law,” published in International Law: Teaching and Practice, by Stevens & Sons, Ltd., London, 1982 (at Chapter 1); “The International Court of Justice and the Non-Appearing Respondent” and “Recent Trends in Diplomatic Law and Human Rights,” lectures given at Iowa University, Iowa City, Iowa, USA, September 1980, unpublished as yet (at Chapters 2 and 14); “The Limits of the Right of Intervention in a Case Before the International Court of Justice,” published in Festschrift to Judge Hermann Mosler, by the Max-Planck-Institute, Heidelberg, 1982 (at Chapter 4); “The Doctrine of Intertemporal Law,” published in The American Journal of International Law, Vol. 74, No. 2, April 1980 (at Chapter 6); “New Perspectives and Conceptions in Contemporary Public International Law,” published in The Denver Journal of International Law and Policy, Vol. 10:3, December 1981 (at Chapter 7); “The Work of International Organizations in the Economic and Social Fields,” to be published in the Manual on International Organizations, by the Hague Academy of International Law (at Chapter 9); “The Rule-Making Process and the Future of International Law,” Address before The American Society of International Law, 75th Anniversary Meeting, Washington, USA, 23 April 1981 (at Chapter 10); “Africa Before the World Court,” published in Gandhi Memorial Lectures 1981, by the University of Nairobi, January 1981 (at Chapters 15, 16 and 17); “The International Court of Justice and the Nuclear Tests Cases” and “Sovereign Immunity and Commercial Transactions,” lectures given at the Nigerian Society of International Law, Lagos, Nigeria, 1974 and 1978 (at Chapters 5 and 8).