

International Law: Process and Prospect

by
Anthony D'Amato

Transnational Publishers, Inc.
Irvington, New York

Library of Congress Cataloging-in-Publication Data

D'Amato, Anthony A.

International law : process and prospect / by Anthony D'Amato.

—Rev. ed.

p. cm.

ISBN 0-941320-84-7 (hardcover)

1. International law.

JX3091.D36 1995

341—dc20

94-11850

CIP

© Copyright 1995 by Transnational Publishers, Inc.

All rights reserved. No part of this publication may be reproduced in any form or by any electronic or mechanical means including information storage and retrieval systems without permission in writing from the publisher.

Manufactured in the United States of America

CONTENTS

---

|                                                                                      |     |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| Acknowledgments                                                                      | v   |
| Introduction                                                                         | vii |
| Chapter One. Is International Law Really "Law"?                                      | 1   |
| Chapter Two. Force or Enforcement?                                                   | 27  |
| Chapter Three. "Territorial Integrity" and "PoliticalIndependence"               | 56  |
| Chapter Four. Use of Force Against Nuclear Installations                             | 73  |
| Chapter Five. Use of Force Against Tyranny                                           | 86  |
| Chapter Six. Customary International Law                                             | 98  |
| Chapter Seven. Human Rights as Entitlements                                          | 146 |
| Chapter Eight. Human Rights as Customary Law                                         | 179 |
| Chapter Nine. The Individual Versus the State                                        | 204 |
| Chapter Ten. The Role of the State in the Era ofHuman Rights                     | 234 |
| Chapter Eleven. The Commercial and Political Desirabilityof Human Rights         | 257 |
| Chapter Twelve. Strong Opinions                                                      | 274 |
| Chapter Thirteen. Problems of Accepting the World Court'sCompulsory Jurisdiction | 295 |
| Chapter Fourteen. Territorial Apartheid                                              | 321 |
| Chapter Fifteen. Nicaragua and the Academic View ofInternational Law             | 348 |
| Postscript. International Law as a Career                                            | 358 |
| Index                                                                                | 371 |