

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I wish to express my sincere gratitude, in the first place, to Prof. Dr. J. Gonda. I have always been much inspired by his enthusiastic lectures in Sanskrit and other Indo-Aryan subjects, and I am very grateful to him for his advice and suggestions for the present work. I owe much to Prof. Dr. T. Vetter, who guided me in reading Buddhist Hybrid Sanskrit. Valuable suggestions for various aspects of this study were received from Drs. L. A. van Daalen, Dr. K. R. van Kooij and Drs. J. Schoterman, all of the Institute of Oriental Languages in Utrecht. I am also indebted to Dr. H. Plaeschke (Halle-Saale, D.D.R.), who willingly discussed with me in correspondence a number of problems connected with palaeography and chronology.

I am grateful to the Netherlands Foundation for the Advancement of Tropical Research (WOTRO) for the financial support which enabled me to visit the museums at Mathurā and Lucknow, India. Many thanks are due to Shri R. C. Sharma, Director of the Government Museum of Archaeology at Mathurā, and to Dr. N. P. Joshi (Director) and Shri S. K. Rastogi of the State Museum at Lucknow, who took great trouble in admitting me to the collections of these museums. In Mathurā I received much practical assistance from Shri S. B. Bajpai and Shri P. L. Mishra.

The authorities of the British Museum in London kindly allowed me to study a Mathurā inscription and the Mathurā coins belonging to their collection. I am grateful to them for their co-operation.
