I WOULD like to thank Swiss-French Studies, Romance Studies and the Modern Language Review for permission to include material which has appeared in article-form.

(Andrea was preparing this section of the book just prior to her tragic death in a road accident. Although she had discussed it briefly with me, any attempt to complete it for her would be unsatisfactory because it would not be possible to accurately reflect her wishes and there would be the serious risk of omissions.

Could all those friends and colleagues who have offered assistance, in large measure or small, therefore collectively please accept sincere thanks from me on Andrea's behalf. She would have offered her thanks to you, individually, with warmth and generosity — please be assured of the depth of her gratitude.

M.D.)
