

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

We should like to thank the individuals and institutions listed in 'Holders of letters' for their kind cooperation in providing access to their collections. We are grateful to them and the various estates concerned in regard to permission to publish. Whilst every effort has been made to locate owners of copyright material, this has in some cases been unsuccessful. The editors and publisher apologize for any infringement and shall be glad to include any necessary corrections in subsequent printings.

A number of individuals have kindly offered useful advice and assistance. We owe a particular debt to Hans van Marle, who in addition to making available his expertise and sharing findings, gave sage advice and encouraged this endeavour from its inception. Dr Gene M. Moore generously provided scholarly information, technical assistance, and hospitality. In a very real way, these friends have been essential to our work.

We are particularly grateful to Dr Laurence Davies, Dr Gene M. Moore, and David Thomason for sharing their discoveries of letters and are also indebted to the following: Kenneth Blackwell, Bertrand Russell Archives, McMaster University; Michael Bott, Archives and Manuscripts, University of Reading; Dr Iain G. Brown and Robin Smith, Manuscripts Department, National Library of Scotland; Andrzej Busza; Bruce Cammack, Special Collections, Texas Tech University; John Charlton, Chatto & Windus, Ltd; Philip N. Cronenwett, Special Collections, Dartmouth College Library; Professor Roderick Davis; Lynne Farrington, Special Collections, Cornell University; Richard Garnett; Rick Gekoski, Bookseller & Publisher, London; Vincent Giroud, Modern Books and Manuscripts, and Patricia Middleton, Reference Section, Beinecke Rare Book and Manuscript Library, Yale University; Sir Rupert Hart-Davis; Cathy Henderson, Harry Ransom Humanities Research Center, University of Texas at Austin; Professors David Leon Higdon and Robert Langenfeld, editors, respectively, of Conradiana and English Literature in Transition, 1880-1920, who published earlier versions of some of the work presented here; Sara S. Hodson, Literary Manuscripts, Huntington Library; Melissa McAfee, Special Collections, Colgate University; Professor Paul F. Mattheisen; Giancarla Mursia; Dr Judith Priestman, Bodleian Library, Oxford; C. D. W. Sheppard, Brotherton Collection, Leeds University Library; Yasuko Shidara, Oriental Library, Tokyo; Frank O. Mattson and the late Lola L. Szladits, Berg Collection, New York Public Library; Sandra Taylor, Lilly Library, Indiana University; Robert L. Volz, Chapin Library, Williams College; John White, Manuscripts Department, Wilson Library, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. Special thanks are due to Dr Olga Amsterdamska, who translated letters in Polish, and to Raymond Gauthier, who assisted with translating letters in French.

J. H. Stape is grateful to the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada, the University of Western Ontario, and Japan Women's University for research and travel funds.
