

The Aesthetics of Populism

Value Inquiry Book Series

Founding Editor

Robert Ginsberg

Managing Editor

J.D. Mininger

VOLUME 409

Central European Value Studies

Edited by

Vasil Gluchman (University of Prešov, Slovakia)

Affiliate Editors

Jaap van Brakel (University of Louvain)

Eckhard Herych (University of Mainz)

Assistant Editors

Arnold Burms (Belgium) – Herman Parret (Belgium) – B.A.C. Saunders
(Belgium) – Frans De Wachter (Belgium) – Anindita Balslev (Denmark) –
Lars-Henrik Schmidt (Denmark) – Dieter Birnbacher (Germany) – Stephan
Grätzel (Germany) – Thomas Seebohm (Germany) – Olaf Wiegand
(Germany) – Alex Burri (Switzerland) – Henri Lauener (Switzerland)

The titles published in this series are listed at brill.com/vibs and brill.com/cevs

The Aesthetics of Populism

Political Struggle and the Aesthetics Experience in Poland after 1989

Edited by

Leszek Koczanowicz, Michał Stambulski,
Wojciech Ufel and Rafał Włodarczyk

BRILL

LEIDEN | BOSTON

The book is the result of research project “The Aesthetics of Populism. Political Struggle and the Aesthetics Experience in Poland after 1989” funded by the National Science Center (NO. 2019/35/B/HS2/01187)

Cover illustration: Image by Maria Zmarz-Koczanowicz.

The Library of Congress Cataloging-in-Publication Data is available online at <https://catalog.loc.gov>
LC record available at <https://lcn.loc.gov/2025024538>

Typeface for the Latin, Greek, and Cyrillic scripts: “Brill”. See and download: brill.com/brill-typeface.

ISSN 0929-8436

ISBN 978-90-04-72768-7 (hardback)

ISBN 978-90-04-73294-0 (e-book)

DOI 10.1163/9789004732940

Copyright 2025 by Leszek Koczanowicz, Michał Stambulski, Wojciech Ufel and Rafał Włodarczyk.

Published by Koninklijke Brill BV, Plantijnstraat 2, 2321 JC Leiden, The Netherlands.

Koninklijke Brill BV incorporates the imprints Brill, Brill Nijhoff, Brill Schöningh, Brill Fink, Brill mentis, Brill Wageningen Academic, Vandenhoeck & Ruprecht, Böhlau and V&R unipress.

Koninklijke Brill BV reserves the right to protect this publication against unauthorized use. Requests for re-use and/or translations must be addressed to Koninklijke Brill BV via brill.com or copyright.com.

For more information: info@brill.com.

This book is printed on acid-free paper and produced in a sustainable manner.

Contents

Notes on Contributors IX

Introduction: The Aesthetic Dimensions of Populism 1
Leszek Koczanowicz, Michał Stambulski, Wojciech Ufel and Rafał Włodarczyk

PART 1

Aesthetics of Democracy and Populism

- 1 Mind the Gap: When Lefort Met Hans Christian Anderson – The Two Aesthetics of Democracy 17
Clare Woodford
- 2 Imaginarium of Post-communist Europe: Theoretical and Historical Approximations 36
Karol Morawski
- 3 The Object of Transformation or on the Aesthetics of Populophobia: Representations of the Systemic Change Losers in Gazeta Wyborcza between 1989 and 1993 61
Jan Sowa

PART 2

Populist Imaginaries and Symbols

- 4 Four Discourses of (Mis)Representation: Systemic Change Losers in Gazeta Wyborcza between 1989 and 1993 81
Jan Sowa
- 5 Turboslavs: The New East European Volkism and Its Pop Culture Representations 105
Przemysław Witkowski

- 6 Neo-Sarmatism as a Cultural and Aesthetic Base of Populism in Poland after 1989 122
Paweł Bohuszewicz
- 7 'Two Polands': An Aesthetics of Populism in Selected Polish Literature 138
Katarzyna Krzyżanowska
- 8 Populist Media Discourse: Ernesto Laclau's Concept of Populism and the Case Study of Polish Evangelicalism 155
Monika Humeniuk
- 9 From an Old Diary: The Aesthetic Realisation of Populism in the Polish Tabloid Press 174
Franciszek Łosieczka
- 10 The Aesthetics of Non-mainstream Political News Portals, or What Authors of Polonia Christiana, Magna Polonia and Lewica.pl Watch, Read and Listen To 197
Rafał Węgrzyn

PART 3

Representations of Protest and Resistance

- 11 Between Historical Reconstruction, Street Anger, and Politics in Suits?: On the Aesthetics of the Polish Nationalist Movement 225
Justyna Kajta
- 12 The Image of the 2019 Polish Teachers' Strike in the Weekly Sieci: The Perspective of Aesthetics of Populism 239
Kinga Kędzior and Rafał Włodarczyk
- 13 Strong Aesthetics of Left Populism in Action: Women's Strikes in Poland and Their Musealization 269
Joanna Sieracka

- 14 Populist Attitudes and the Everyday Aesthetics of the Participants of the 2020 Women's Strike in Poland 282
Karolina Bednarz and Wojciech Ufel
- 15 Everyday Life of a Housewife as a Gateway to the World of Politics: How Social Media Helps the Polish Tradwife to Exist 303
Katarzyna Kliszczyk
- 16 Democratic Values and Populist Themes in Polish Hip-Hop Music of the Pandemic Era 319
Julia Trzcńska and Róża Norström
- 17 The Aesthetics and Politics of Populism across the Central-Periphery Divide: Poland, USA, and Tanzania from a Comparative Perspective 330
Anna Cichecka and Wojciech Ufel
- Index 355

Notes on Contributors

Karolina Bednarz

is an M.A. graduate of psychology at SWPS University (Poland). She has been a research assistant at the National Science Center funded research project “The Aesthetics of Populism. Political struggle and the aesthetic experience in Poland post 1989”, where she conducted research on Women’s Strikes in Poland.

Paweł Bohuszewicz

works as a professor in the Department of Anthropology of Literature and New Media at the Nicolaus Copernicus University in Toruń (Poland). He specialises in the history of literature and culture. He is the author of two books on the early novel (in Polish): Gramatyka romansu. Polski romans barokowy w perspektywie narratologicznej [The Grammar of Romance: Polish Baroque Romance in a Narratological Perspective] (2006) and Od “romansu” do powieści. Studia o polskiej literaturze narracyjnej (druga połowa XVII wieku – pierwsza połowa XIX wieku) [From ‘Romance’ to Novel: Studies on Polish Narrative Literature (second half of the 17th century – first half of the 19th century)] (2016). He is the editor of five monographic journal issues devoted to old Polish literature, constructivism, Sarmatism or the anthropology of literature.

Anna Cichecka

is an assistant professor at the University of Wrocław, Faculty of Social Sciences, Institute of Sociology (Poland). Her research focuses on the socio-political situation in Sub-Saharan Africa, with particular emphasis on the situation of women and the role of social movements in democratization. Additionally, she is interested in the topics of post-colonialism and the Anthropocene. She has authored academic papers, reports, and a book dedicated to women’s movements in Tanzania. She has been a grant recipient from the National Science Center and has participated in research teams that developed high-quality expertise for the business sector. Currently, she is part of the research team in the “ENDURE: Inequalities, Community Resilience and New Governance Modalities in a Post-Pandemic World” project.

Monika Humeniuk

holds a Ph.D. in the Humanities and is an assistant professor at the Institute of Pedagogy at the University of Wrocław (Poland). She graduated from Pedagogy at the University of Wrocław and Religious Studies at the Jagiellonian University. Head of the Centre for the Study of Religions at the Institute of Pedagogy at the University of Wrocław. Her research interests focus on the study of religion and non-religious worldviews in religious education (RE) and intercultural education, on hermeneutical and critical trends in the RE and educational studies of the Anthropocene. Author of the monograph (in Polish) Wizerunek kobiety w wielokulturowym społeczeństwie Kazachstanu odniesieniem do edukacji międzykulturowej (Toruń 2014), edited works i.a. Between Exclusion and Inclusion in Religious Education (Wrocław 2017) and numerous articles in Polish and English.

Justyna Kajta

is a sociologist and researcher working at the Institute of Social Sciences at SWPS University (Poland). She holds a Ph.D. in social sciences (University of Wrocław, 2017). Her main research interests concern youth, social movements, class (im)mobilities, social and political changes in Central and Eastern Europe, and qualitative research, e.g. biographical method and discourse analysis. Her articles have been published in e.g. Current Sociology, Nationalities Studies, European Societies, and Qualitative Sociology Review. She is the author of the book (in Polish) Młodzi radykalni? O tożsamości polskiego ruchu nacjonalistycznego i jego uczestników [Young Radicals? On the Identity of the Polish Nationalist Movement and Its Participants] (Nomos, 2020).

Kinga Kędzior

is a Polish philologist and an M.A. graduate of general pedagogy at the University of Wrocław (Poland). Her master's and bachelor's thesis focused on Polish teachers – mainly on their image and changes over the years. In the field of pedagogy, her interests are based on changes in education and social transformations. In addition, she is interested in developmental disorders in children and adolescents.

Katarzyna Kliszcz

is an M.A. graduate of psychology at the University of Wrocław (Poland). Her master's thesis focused on the phenomenon of self-objectification in the area of the body in young adult women. In the field of psychology, her interests focus on internalizing disorders and abnormally developing personality in children and adolescents. In addition to psychology, she is interested in issues in fields such as sociology, philosophy and politics.

Leszek Koczanowicz

is a professor of cultural studies and political science at the Department of Cultural Studies at the SWPS University (Poland). He specializes in theory of culture, social theory, and cultural aspects of politics. His previous appointments include inter alia Wrocław University, SUNY/Buffalo, Columbia University, and SUNY/Geneseo Helsinki Collegium for Advanced Studies. He is the author and editor of twelve books and numerous articles in Polish and English, including Politics of Time: Dynamics of Identity in Post-Communist Poland (Berghahn Books, 2008), Politics of Dialogue: Non-consensual Democracy and Critical Community (Edinburgh University Press, 2014), Anxiety and Lucidity: Reflections on Culture in Times of Unrest (Routledge, 2020), and recently Emancipatory Power of the Body in Everyday Life: Niches of Liberation (Palgrave Macmillan, 2023).

Katarzyna Krzyżanowska

is a Ph.D. researcher at the Department of Law at the European University Institute in Florence (Italy). She works on the intersection of sociology of law and constitutional theory, but her interests include studies on literature as well. She was a reconstitution fellow (2023/24 cohort), an editor, and later a co-managing editor of the Review of Democracy, an online platform issued by the CEU Democracy Institute. Her previous research stays include visiting fellowships at Cardiff University, the University of Copenhagen (iCourts), the Institute for European Studies, and ULB (IEE-ULB). She is a contributing author to a number of Polish and international media outlets.

Franciszek Łosieczka

is an M.A. graduate of psychology at the University of Wrocław (Poland). Interested in research of the commons in a context of liberal democracy.

Karol Morawski

is an assistant professor at the Department of Contemporary Philosophy of the Institute of Philosophy, University of Wrocław (Poland). His research interests focus on issues concerning the theory of hegemony, the philosophy of images, the problem of the people and populism. He is the author of two books and several articles in Polish and English on these issues. He is also the winner of two competitions for research grants from the National Science Centre in Poland.

Róża Norström

is an assistant professor at the Institute of Political Science at the University of Wrocław (Poland). She specializes in political communication, international relations, and conflict reporting. She previously worked at the Institute of Journalism and Media Communication at the University of Silesia. She is the author of one monograph entitled The Coverage of the Russian-Ukrainian Conflict by the Polish Media (2014–2015), and numerous articles and chapters in Polish and English, dedicated to media, communication, and politics.

Joanna Sieracka

is a cultural studies scholar and an educator. In 2024, at the University of Wrocław (Poland), she defended her Ph.D. on the changes of feminism in Poland in the context of the Black Protests and the Women's Strikes against the abortion ban. As an author of numerous articles in Polish and English, she specializes in history and theory of feminism and cultural aspects of social movements. Since 2021 she has been working for Józef Piłsudski Museum, where – besides coordinating educational programs – she is involved in various herstorical projects. In the academic year 2024/2025 she was a visiting fellow at the Institute for Human Sciences (IWM) in Vienna, where she carried out her research project titled “Postfeminism in Poland? The Black Protests and the Women's Strikes between Conservative Modernization and Feminist Populism”.

Jan Sowa

is a materialist-dialectical social theorist and researcher. He studied at the Jagiellonian University in Kraków (Poland) and University Paris VIII in Saint-Denis (France). He holds a Ph.D. in sociology and a Habilitation in cultural studies. His research and teaching assignments took him to several institutions around the world, including University of São Paulo, Academy of the Arts of the World in Cologne and Institute of Human Studies in Vienna. He was a member of the Committee on Cultural Studies of the Polish Academy of Art and Sciences (2016–2020), and curator of the Discursive Programs and Research of Biennale Warszawa (2018–2019). He currently works as an associate professor at the Academy of Fine Arts in Warsaw. He edited and authored several books and published numerous articles, recently a volume dedicated to postcolonial theory Perverse Decolonization? (co-edited with Ekaterina Degot and David Riff and published by Archive Books in Berlin in 2021).

Michał Stambulski

is an assistant professor in legal theory at the Erasmus School of Law, Erasmus University Rotterdam (The Netherlands), and a visiting professor at West University in Timisoara (Romania) and Oñati International Institute of Sociology of Law (Spain). He was a 2023 Emile Noël Global Fellow at the Jean Monnet Center for International and Regional Economic Law & Justice, New York University. His recent publications address the issues of rule of law, constitutional populism, legal mobilization, and strategic litigation in Europe.

Julia Trzcińska

is an assistant professor at the Institute of Political Science at the University of Wrocław (Poland). Her main research interests are political communication, soft power, public diplomacy, and fan studies. In her research, she primarily uses content and frame analysis. Since 2017, she has been writing about Polish K-Pop fans, as well as South Korean soft power, and she has been teaching courses at the University of Wrocław and Jagiellonian University. She published three books and several other publications, including The Presidential Campaign in the Republic of Korea in 2017: The Role of Social Media (Peter Lang, 2022), “Litmus Test for a Democratic Public Sphere? Discussion on the Abortion Issue on Polish Twitter” (2022) and “Media Coverage of the 2022 Campaign” (2024).

Wojciech Ufel

is an assistant professor at the Institute of Political Science at the University of Wrocław (Poland) and a former researcher in the Horizon2020 project EUARENAS at the SWPS University. He specialises in political theory, particularly contemporary debates on participatory, deliberative and radical democracy as well as populism. In his research he applies political philosophy based on Ludwig Wittgenstein’s approach to ‘language games’, together with postcolonial, posthumanist and critical theories, also to empirical research and social practice. He was a visiting researcher at The New School for Social Research, University of Brighton (UK), and Charles University in Prague (Czech Republic). He collaborates with municipalities and civil society organisations in Poland and beyond in the organisation and evaluation of participatory practices.

Rafał Węgrzyn

is a psychologist and philosopher at the Faculty of Historical and Pedagogical Sciences at the University of Wrocław (Poland). He specializes in social psychology, Gestalt psychotherapy and utopian studies. His previous appointments include inter alia SWPS University and University of Lower Silesia. He has authored numerous publications in academic journals, including: Journal of Applied Psychology: Health and Well-Being, Polish Psychological Bulletin and Utopia and Education.

Przemysław Witkowski

is an assistant professor at Collegium Civitas (Poland). He collaborates with the think tanks Counter Extremism Project and the International Centre for Counter-Terrorism. He is an expert on the Radicalisation Awareness Network operating at the European Commission. He is the author of the monographs (in Polish) Laboratorium przemocy: polityczna historia Romów [Laboratory of Violence: The Political History of the Roma] (Warsaw, 2020) and Szpryca i chipowanie: polityczny wymiar ruchów sprzeciwu wobec obowiązku szczepień i sieci telefonii piątej generacji [Needle and Chipping: Political Dimension of the Movements Opposing Mandatory Vaccinations and Fifth-Generation Telephone Networks] (Warsaw, 2024). He is the deputy director of the Gabriel Narutowicz Institute of Political Thought.

Rafał Włodarczyk

is an associate professor at the Institute of Pedagogy at the University of Wrocław (Poland). He specializes in educational theory, general pedagogy and the philosophy of education. His research interests also concern social theory and philosophy, ethics, cultural anthropology, the borderland of Western and Jewish thought. He holds a Ph.D. and Habilitation in social sciences. He has published four monographs, including (in English) Utopia and Education. Studies in Philosophy, Theory of Education, and Pedagogy of Asylum (Wrocław, 2022, open access). He is the author several articles and co-editor of works in Polish and English.

Clare Woodford

is principal lecturer/associate professor in philosophy and politics in the Centre for Applied Philosophy, Politics and Ethics (CAPPE) at the University of Brighton (UK). She has published widely on democratic political theory with regard to populism, affect and care, aesthetics, ethics, political theology, social policy, and gender theory. Her recent collaboration with Adriana Cavarero, Judith Butler, and Bonnie Honig, Towards a Feminist Ethics of Nonviolence (Fordham UP, 2021), brings these thinkers into conversation with other leading feminist and gender theorists to argue that we need to attend more carefully to political infrastructural organisation if we are to construct a less violent world. She is the PI of the Wellbeing State Network – a collaboration between academics, policy makers and activists working to rechannel the welfare state project for the 21st century as a transnational collective politics of democratic forms of care and equality.

