

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I would like to express my sincere gratitude to all who have encouraged and helped me in writing this book. It was only thanks to the good will of so many people that I was able to write this book as one of my first projects after my retirement from the Ministry of Foreign Affairs in the spring of 2002.

My particular thanks go to the University of Leiden, which became the founding father of this project. Prof. Dr. W.R. van Gulik helped enormously by settling me with this project at Leiden University. Dr. L.E.H. Vredevoogd, and his successor Mr. A.W. Kist, Presidents of the University of Leiden, as well as Prof. Dr. Douwe D. Breimer, Rector Magnificus of the University, all kindly encouraged me to pursue this endeavour.

I owe a deep debt of gratitude to Prof. Dr. Rikki Kersten of the Centre for Japanese and Korean Studies of the University of Leiden, who gave me the opportunity to teach a class at the University, using the draft text of this book as reference material. Professor Kersten continued to be of invaluable assistance, and her comments on both the content and the language were vital in bringing this work to publication. Without her determination and support this book would not have been published.

The students of Leiden University who attended my class 'Japan and the World' in the spring term of 2003 have made no small contribution to the improvement of the contents of this book through their active classroom participation.

My particular thanks go also to the International Institute for Asian Studies (IIAS) which supported the publication of this book. Prof. W.A.L. Stokhof, Director of IIAS, Mr. Wouter Feldberg and Ms. Josine Stremmelaar, staff members of IIAS, have constantly encouraged me to bring this project to its completion.

There are many individuals to whom I owe special thanks as well. Mrs. Elizabeth van der Wind-Hamill helped me enormously in improving the English. Mrs. Muriel Hussin gave me many valuable comments and advice on the text itself. I am also grateful to Ambassador Takeshi Kagami for his extremely insightful comments. I also owe many thanks to Prof. Dr. Arthur Stockwin of the University of Oxford and Prof. Dr. Peter Pantzer of the University of Bonn who have continuously encouraged me to publish this book.

My friends in the Ministry of Foreign Affairs in Tokyo helped me in gathering information which brought further accuracy to this book, including statistical data, the latest unpublished materials and old speeches.

Mr. Albert Hoffstädt of Brill Netherlands and Mr. Patrick H. Alexander of Brill USA took the vital decision to publish this book by Brill Academic Publishers. Without them, this book would have never taken its current shape, and I am immensely grateful for their decision. Ms. Tanja Cowall did most of the detailed work related to the publication. Dr. Koen Donker van Heel contributed immensely in copy editing. Mrs. Tamaki Yoshida, a student at the Leiden University, helped me a lot in bringing the index into shape. Thank you very much.

And last but not least, mention has to be made to the Ailion Foundation and the Canon Foundation. Both have contributed generously and unselfishly, enabling me to write this book. Mrs. Corrie Siahaya-van Nierop of the Canon Foundation followed this project with great interest.

All in all, I thank all my friends and members of my family who continuously encouraged, helped and supported the writing of this book. Without their support this book might never have been published.
