

Acknowledgements

The Open University provides an exceptionally supportive, caring and productive academic environment, and for that I thank all my colleagues in the Department of Literature and Arts Faculty. My special thanks go to Peter Elmer, Gill Perry and David Mateer for reading sections of this volume in manuscript, to Clive Baldwin, Trish Cashen, Cathy Sack and Gerald Schmidt for advising on editorial and technical matters, and to Bob Owens for unfailing encouragement and practical wisdom.

For financially supporting this research with scholarships, fellowships and awards, I am deeply grateful to the Directors, Trustees and staff of the following institutions: Alexander von Humboldt Foundation, Arts and Humanities Research Council, British Academy, Deutscher Akademischer Austauschdienst, European Science Foundation, Gladys Kreble Delmas Foundation, Harold Hyam Wingate Foundation, Herzog August Library, Leverhulme Foundation, Netherlands Institute for Advanced Study, The Open University (Arts Faculty Research Fund), Society for Theatre Research (Kathleen Barker Award), University of London (Scouloudi Foundation, Institute for Historical Research), University of Southampton (Hartley Institute), Wimbledon School of Art. Above all in this respect, I am grateful to the late Barbara Wilkes, and the Trustees of the Wilkes Fellowship and of the Elizabeth Howe Fund, for founding and funding my position as Wilkes Research Fellow, in the Department of Literature of the Arts Faculty, The Open University, Milton Keynes.

This study has benefited immeasurably from the outstanding research ethos and resources of St Catherine's College and the University of Oxford. I thank the Master and Fellows of St Catherine's College for their continuing great generosity in sharing these with me, during my years as a graduate student, and, since 2001, as a Research Associate of the College, R J W Evans and Helen Watanabe-O'Kelly for supervising my doctoral thesis, and Richard Cooper and Michael Anderson for examining it.

My research depends on the documentary and human resources of libraries, archives, museums, salerooms and collections. For their invaluable assistance, and for permission to consult and reproduce their materials, I thank Duke Albrecht of Bavaria and the past and present Librarians, Curators, Archivists and private collectors who have supported this study. Particular thanks to those in Amsterdam (Historisch Museum), Berlin (Staatliche Museen Preussischer Kulturbesitz), Copenhagen (Kongelige Bibliotek), Florence (Archivio di Stato, Biblioteca Nazionale), Landshut (Schloss Trausnitz), London (British Library, British Museum, Christies, Courtauld Institute, Sotheby's, University College, Warburg Institute), Milton Keynes (The Open University Library), Munich (Bayerisches Hauptstaatsarchiv, Bayerische Staatsbibliothek, Bayerische Staatsgemäldesammlungen), Nürnberg (Germanisches Nationalmuseum), Oxford (Ashmolean Museum, Bodleian, Corpus Christi College, English, History and Music Faculty Libraries, Sackler, St Catherine's College, Taylorian), Sarasota (Ringling Museum), Stockholm (Nationalmuseum), Stuttgart (Württembergisches Landesbibliothek), Venice (Fondazione Cini, Marciana, Museo Correr), Weimar (Stiftung Weimarer Klassik), Wien (Österreichische Nationalbibliothek), Windsor (Royal Library), Wolfenbüttel (Herzog August Bibliothek).

I have benefited from the generous intellectual support of numerous individuals, some in passing, others in many capacities over many years. My thanks and appreciation go to you all, and especially to Roger Ainsworth, Ines Aliverti, David Allen, Michael Anderson, Sydney Anglo, Marion Arnold, John Astington, Chris Balme, Fran Barasch, Hans-Peter Bayerdörfer, Jill Bepler, Margot Berthold, Sandra Billington, Julian Brooks, Pam Brown, Kathy Brush, Christopher Cairns, Alba Ceccarelli Pellegrino, Ulf Cederlof, Lois Chaber, Richard Cooper, Eileen Cottis, Gunilla Dahlberg, David Ekserdjian, Eva Engel, Rob Erenstein, Bob Evans, Bernd Evers, Anat Feinberg, Iain Fenlon, Siro Ferrone, Erika Fischer-Lichte, Tim Fitzpatrick, Thomas Fusenig, Michael Gebhardt, Mark Geller, David Gentilcore, Elizabeth Goldring, Lisbet Grandjean, Anthony Griffiths, Martine Grinberg, Marianne Grivel, Yvonne Hackenbroch, Marianne Hallar, Natsu Hattori, Tom Heck, Rob Henke, Monika Holl, Bent Holm, Colin Jones, Michiel Jonker, Sidney Jowers, Robert Jütte, Helena Kajander, Ros Kerr, Mary Klinger-Lindberg, Michael Knoche, Andreas Kotte, Manfred Krebernik, Ingeborg Krekler, Anne Laurence, Angelika Leik, Laura and Giulio Lepschy, Hilda Lietzmann, Horst Leuchtman, Kurt Löcher, Sara Mamone, Brigitte Marschall, Jan McDonald, Margaret McGowan, Melissa McQuillan, Wolfgang Milde, Cesare Molinari, Ronnie Mulryne, Viktoria Musvik, Klaus Neiiendam, Tom Nichols, Ulrike Noë, Vivian Nutton, Irene Ogden, Helen Ostovich, Frank Peeters, Domenico Pietropaolo, Milan Pelc, Margaret Pelling, Sandra Pietrini, Hans Puchta, Konrad Renger, Kerstin Retemeyer, Martine de Rougement, Bärbel Rudin, Otto Schindler, Reinhart Schleier, Claude Schumacher, Virginia Scott, Antonio Scuderi, Laurence Senelick, Sieglinde Sepp, Margaret Shewring, Max Siller, Richard Shirley Smith, Andrea Somer-Mathis, George Speaight, Alexander Stillmark, Beverly Straube, Barbro Stribolt, Malgorzata Sugiera, Marianne Haraszti Takács, William Twining, Jane Tylus, Piermario Vescovo, Daniele Vianello, Brigitte Volk-Knüttel, Lyckle de Vries, Mara Wade, Mary Waldron, Helen Watanabe-O'Kelly, Shearer West, Catherine Whistler, John White, Alexander Wied, David Wiles, Tim Wilson, John Woodhouse, Harald Zielske, Marino Zorzi. And I will not forget those from whom I was privileged to learn whom my thanks can no longer reach: Umberto Artioli, Geoffrey Ashton, Kathleen Barker, Dorothy Bednarowska, Clara Cooper, Howard Mayer Brown, Ernst Gombrich, Francis Haskell, Gunnel Kajander, Kathleen Lea, Monica Murray, David Trott.

Otherwise unattributed translations are mine, as are all errors. Of which there would be very many more, were it not for the unstinting patience and professionalism of my editors, for which I record my appreciation to: Marieke Schilling (Amsterdam), Clare Butler (Milton Keynes), Sebastian Posth and Maria Baramova (Wolfenbüttel), Norbert Bachleitner, Ernst Grabovszki and Alberto Martino (University of Vienna).