

Grief, Identity, and the Arts

Death in History, Culture, and Society

Editors-in-Chief

Wolfgang Marx (University College Dublin, Ireland)

Heather Sparling (Cape Breton University, Canada)

Editorial Board

Tammy Clewell (Kent State University, Ohio, USA)

Miri Rubin (Queen Mary University of London, United Kingdom)

Patrick Stokes (Deakin University, Melbourne, Australia)

Tony Walter (University of Bath, United Kingdom)

VOLUME 1

The titles published in this series are listed at brill.com/death

Grief, Identity, and the Arts

A Multidisciplinary Perspective on Expressions of Grief

Edited by

Bram Lambrecht and Miriam Wendling

BRILL

LEIDEN | BOSTON

Cover illustration: Sir Edward Burne-Jones, The Entombment (1879), The Metropolitan Museum of Art (New York). Image in the public domain.

The Library of Congress Cataloging-in-Publication Data is available online at <https://catalog.loc.gov>
LC record available at <https://lcn.loc.gov/2022044781>

Typeface for the Latin, Greek, and Cyrillic scripts: "Brill". See and download: brill.com/brill-typeface.

ISSN 2772-6983

ISBN 978-90-04-15308-0 (hardback)

ISBN 978-90-04-15871-9 (e-book)

Copyright 2023 by Koninklijke Brill nv, Leiden, The Netherlands.

Koninklijke Brill nv incorporates the imprints Brill, Brill Nijhoff, Brill Hotei, Brill Schöningh, Brill Fink, Brill mentis, Vandenhoeck & Ruprecht, Böhlau, V&R unipress and Wageningen Academic.

All rights reserved. No part of this publication may be reproduced, translated, stored in a retrieval system, or transmitted in any form or by any means, electronic, mechanical, photocopying, recording or otherwise, without prior written permission from the publisher. Requests for re-use and/or translations must be addressed to Koninklijke Brill nv via brill.com or copyright.com.

This book is printed on acid-free paper and produced in a sustainable manner.

Contents

Acknowledgements ix

List of Figures x

Notes on the Editors and Contributors xi

- 1 Grief, Identity, and the Arts in the West: An Introduction 1
Bram Lambrecht and Miriam Wendling

PART 1

Collective Religious Identities

Introduction to Part 1 14

- 2 The Arts of Inclusion and Exclusion: Funerary Art Taken from the Example of the Municipal Cemetery Tongerseweg Maastricht 16
Christoph Jedan, Mariske Westendorp and Eric Venbrux
- 3 Mary's Grief in 18th-Century Passion Oratorios: Some Notes on Its Confessional and Interconfessional Aspects 33
Maryam Haiawi
- 4 The Composer as Intellectual: Biblical Interpretation and Jewish Martyrdom in Alexandre Tansman's Isaïe le prophète 61
Nicolette van den Bogerd

PART 2

Personal Religious Identities

Introduction to Part 2 80

- 5 Reaching Towards Heaven: An Examination of Robert Schumann's Views About Religion in his Requiem in D-Flat Major, Op. 148 81
Owen Hansen
- 6 "The Rustling in the Trees Is / Not the Rustling in the Trees / It Is Your Voice" Mystical Relationality and the Liquid Poetics of Postsecular Mourning in Joost Baars's Binnenplaats [Enclosure] (2017) 96
Tijl Nuyts

PART 3National Identities

Introduction to Part 3 116

- 7 Here is Their Spirit: Contemporary Expressions of Grief at the Australian War Memorial 117
David Gist

- 8 Mary Vitali “fidanzata dei morti”: An Investigation into the Genre of Grief Memoirs in Gabriele d’Annunzio’s Fiume 139
Carlo Leo

- 9 Politics, Memory, and Grief in Contemporary Albanian Autobiographic Writing
Live to Tell; A True Story of Religious Persecution in Communist Albania by Fr Zef Pllumi 152
Bayjola Shatro

PART 4Family Identities/The Inner Circle

Introduction to Part 4 170

- 10 Conjugal Mourning in French Neo-Latin Poetry: A Reading of Louis Des Masures’s Carmen 29 172
Caroline Supply

- 11 The Empty Chair in Children’s Picture Books: More Than Just a “Classic Image” 186
Maggie Jackson

- 12 The Horror of Grief: Monstrous Effects of Unaddressed Grief in Jennifer Kent’s The Babadook 198
Julia Płaczekiewicz

- 13 Dutch Mourning Poetry in the 19th Century: The Case of Prudens van Duyse’s Natalia (1842) 206
Janneke Weijermars

PART 5Social/Societal Identities

- Introduction to Part 5 222
- 14 Mourning Someone You Never Knew: A Gesture of Civilization 223
 Lizet Duyvendak
- 15 Contested Legacies of Modernist Memorialization:
 The May 4 Memorial 233
 Tammy Clewell

PART 6Identities of a Genre/Artistic Identity

- Introduction to Part 6 248
- 16 The Elegiac Poetry of Kiki Dimoula and the Visual Arts 249
 Despoina Papastathi
- 17 Musical Representations of Grief and Death 262
 Wolfgang Marx
- Name Index 275
Subject Index 277
Place Index 279

Acknowledgements

Thanks are due to our many colleagues whose help made this collection possible, including Barbara Baert, David Burn, Wolfgang Marx, and Violet Soen. Financial support was provided by the FWO-Research Foundation Flanders and the Doctoral School of the Humanities and Social Sciences at KU Leuven. We have also highly appreciated the help, support, and valuable feedback from the two anonymous reviewers, the series editors Wolfgang Marx and Heather Sparling, and the Brill team, especially Ivo Romein. Our families lived with this project for a long time—to them also, our heartfelt thanks.

Figures

- 2.1 Map of Tongerseweg Cemetery, with location of graves discussed in the text 20
- 2.2 Muslim grave (2015) 25
- 2.3 The grave of nobody 28
- 3.1 Georg Reutter Jr., Mater Dolorum, aria 7 40
- 3.2 Georg Reutter Jr., Mater Dolorum, aria 15 43
- 3.3 Georg Reutter Jr., Mater Dolorum, aria 3 46
- 3.4 Reinhard Keiser, Der blutige und sterbende Jesus, aria 22d 49
- 3.5 Reinhard Keiser, Der blutige und sterbende Jesus, acc. 57 50
- 3.6 Reinhard Keiser, Der blutige und sterbende Jesus, aria 64 53
- 3.7 Reinhard Keiser, Der blutige und sterbende Jesus, arioso 74 55
- 3.8 Reinhard Keiser, Der blutige und sterbende Jesus, acc. 72 56
- 5.1 Measures 17–28 from Introit: Requiem Aeternam with dynamic markings circled 90
- 5.2 Measures 67–77 from Benedictus/Agnus Dei/Communion with dynamic markings circled in the strings and chorus 91
- 5.3 Measures 25–33 from Sequence: Dies Irae with measures 25–29 circled to highlight orchestral texture against the chorus and the crescendo/decrescendo effect being utilized 93
- 7.1 Commemorative area 121
- 7.2 Roll of honour in the Cloisters 121
- 7.3 Tomb of the unknown Australian soldier 122
- 7.4 Hall of Memory dome 123
- 7.5 Small bottle of rum 130
- 7.6 Wall plaques with poppies 131
- 7.7 Bewes Poppy 132
- 7.8 Panel 134
- 7.9 Jarrad Brown photograph 134
- 7.10 Jarrad Brown photograph (reverse) 135
- 15.1 Ohio National Guard at Kent State University using tear gas to disperse student protestors against the Vietnam War 239
- 15.2 Model of Bruno Ast's winning design for the May 4 Memorial 242
- 15.3 The May 4 Memorial at Kent State 244

Notes on the Editors and Contributors

Bram Lambrecht

is an Assistant Professor of Dutch and Translation Studies at Ghent University, Belgium. He publishes both on 20th- and 21st-century poetry and popular culture. He is currently writing a monograph on 21st-century poetry of mourning from the Low Countries.

Miriam Wendling

is a research associate at KU Leuven, working on the FWO-funded project Cantors and Catafalques: Music and Death 1300–1530. She received her Ph.D. from the University of Cambridge, with a thesis on the development of musical notation at Bamberg Cathedral and has worked widely on plainchant as well as on German-American musical culture.

Nicolette van den Bogerd

is a Ph.D. candidate in Musicology at the Indiana University Jacobs School of Music. Her research interests include music and Holocaust memory, constructions of Jewish identity in music, and music and politics, with a special focus on twentieth century Poland, East and Central Europe, and France. Much of her work is interdisciplinary, engaging in the areas of Jewish Studies, Holocaust studies, religious studies, and memory and trauma studies.

Tammy Clewell

is professor of English at Kent State University, in Kent, Ohio. She is the author of Mourning, Modernism, Postmodernism (Basingstoke: 2009) and editor of Modernism and Nostalgia: Bodies, Locations, Aesthetics (Basingstoke: 2013).

Lizet Duyvendak

is associate professor Literature at the Faculty of Humanities of the Open University in the Netherlands. She works on the social function of literature: city poetry, poets laureates and in the reading motivation of members of reading societies and book clubs.

David Gist's

postgraduate studies in anthropology prepared him for his 16-year career at the Australian War Memorial. He has been instrumental in the drafting of the institution's policy and procedures for managing the emerging commemorative practice of votive items.

Maryam Haiawi

studied musicology, Catholic church music, piano and organ. In her Ph.D. thesis she explored interconfessional exchange of oratorios in the 18th century. She is currently a scientific assistant of the research training group on spiritual intermediality in the early modern period of the Universität Hamburg and church musician at the Lutheran Hauptkirche St. Trinitatis in Hamburg-Altona.

Owen Hansen

is a Ph.D. candidate at the University of Kansas pursuing a degree in Musicology. He specializes in studying how grief and war affected English musicians. He is currently working on a dissertation about the friendship between British composers George Butterworth and Ralph Vaughan Williams and the impact it had on Vaughan Williams's A London Symphony.

Maggie Jackson

works as a senior lecturer in Social Work at Teesside University. Recently she has been researching and publishing on the place of death in picture books for young children. Her most recent publication is Death, Playfulness and Picture books.

Christoph Jedan

is Professor of Ethics and Comparative Philosophy of Religion in the Faculty of Theology and Religious Studies, University of Groningen. His research interests include the intersections of religion and philosophy and the history and continuing relevance of consolation for death and loss.

Carlo Leo

is a Ph.D. student in Literary Studies at KU Leuven, Belgium. His research focuses on the literary memory of the Italian occupation of Fiume. He is a member of the research group MDRN on literary modernism and collaborates with "Il Vittoriale degli Italiani," the prominent research center dedicated to poet Gabriele d'Annunzio. In 2017 he worked as a research intern at Waseda University in Tokyo, investigating the role of japonisme in contemporary Italian literature. He recently edited Mario Carli's futurist writings Con d'Annunzio a Fiume: Prose belliche e fiumane (Rome-Cesena: 2021).

Wolfgang Marx

is Associate Professor in Musicology at University College Dublin and a member of the UCD Humanities Institute. His research interests include the representation of death in music, György Ligeti, post-truth and music, and the theory of musical genres.

Tijl Nuyts

is a doctoral student at the University of Antwerp, where he prepares a Ph.D. in literature on the travelling memory of the medieval mystical author Hadewijch in modern Belgium.

Despoina Papastathi

teaches Modern Greek Literature at the Department of Philology of the University of Ioannina, Greece. Her research focuses on literary genres and the relation of literature with other arts. She is the author of Kiki Dimoula "achthophoros melancholias". Poiēsē kai poiētikē tou penthous (Athens: 2018).

Julia Płaczkiewicz

is a PhD student at the University of Warsaw and a graduate of UW's American Studies Center. Her dissertation project focuses on the influence of postfeminism and the #MeToo movement on the image of female rage in contemporary American popular culture. She is a writer for the student journal, The WASP, and her main areas of interest are horror cinema, postfeminism, identity, and gender.

Bayjola Shatro

is Associate Professor of World Literature and Albanian Literature at Aleksander Moisiu University. She is President of South East European Studies Association (SEESA), USA. She has authored and co-authored eleven scholarly books in the field.

Caroline Supply

is an FNRS Research Fellow at the UCLouvain (Belgium), conducting research on the Neo-Latin poetic vein of family mourning at the turn of the Italian Quattro- and Cinquecento under the direction of Professor Aline Smeesters.

Eric Venbrux

is Chair and Professor of Comparative Religion at Radboud University, Nijmegen, The Netherlands. He conducted anthropological fieldwork among the Tiwi people of Australia, as well as in Switzerland and The Netherlands. He has published extensively on mortuary ritual.

Janneke Weijermars

is Assistant Professor of Modern Dutch literature at the University of Groningen. Her award-winning dissertation, Stepbrothers: Southern Dutch Literature and Nation Building under Willem I, 1814–1834, was 2015. She is currently working on a research project about the life and work of the Flemish poet Prudens van Duyse (1804–1859).

Mariske Westendorp

Ph.D., is an anthropologist and religious studies scholar. She currently works as lecturer at the Department of Anthropology, Utrecht University. Her interests include the anthropology of death, religion and the city.