

CONTRIBUTORS

Chris Bonsall

LLB LLM (Cantab), Solicitor and Notary Public, Hong Kong, Partner, Johnson Stokes & Master, Solicitors and Notaries Hong Kong.

Gary Heilbronn

BA LLB LLM PhD Dip Criminology Dip Comm Law, Solicitor, Hong Kong, Barrister and Solicitor, Australia, Consultant, Johnson Stokes & Master, Solicitors and Notaries Hong Kong.

Y. Lin

is an associate professor of law at the Shanghai Maritime University and partner with Rolmax Law Office, Shanghai.

C.A. Ong

is an assistant professor of law, Hong Kong Polytechnic University.

Shozo Ota

is an associate professor of sociology of law at Tokyo University.

Ann Seidman

is adjunct professor Boston University, School of Law and the International Development and Social Change Programme, Clark University.

Robert Seidman

is professor emeritus, Boston University School of Law.

Dhirendra Srivastava

is an associate professor of law, faculty of law, City University of Hong Kong. He obtained his PhD from Monash University and has taught in universities in Papua New Guinea and Australia.

Wila Candrawila Supriadi

is a legal practitioner, Universitas Katolik Parahyangan, Bandung, Indonesia.

Stefanie Tetz

is a resident partner at Pünder, Volhard, Weber & Axster, Beijing.

Atsuko Yoshii

is an associate professor of law, faculty of commerce, University of Marketing and Distribution Sciences, Kobe. She lectures and publishes on financial, commercial and comparative law.

Shicheng Yu

is a maritime lawyer and professor of law at the Shanghai Maritime University.

R.J. Wickins

was an associate professor of law, Hong Kong Polytechnic University.

Yong Zhang

is a research fellow of the International Bureau for Fiscal Documentation, Amsterdam.