This book is a collection of essays presented at an International Conference on “The UN: Peace, Security and Development Beyond the Year 2000”, organised by the Athens University of Economics and Business at Delphi, Greece in May 19-20 1995. We would like to thank the Rector, Professor Andreas Kintis, and the Department of International and European Economic Studies of the University for the trust they showed in us organising the Delphi Conference.

This Conference would have been impossible to organise without the unflinching support of a number of people and institutions. Firstly, we would like to express our indebtedness to the late Angelos Gialouris of the UN Information Centre in Athens not only for his full support but also for his original suggestion to convene the Delphi Conference. Unfortunately due to his untimely death, Angelos will not be able to see the final result of this endeavor. In the same vein we would like to thank Mrs Eleftheria Apostolidou for her total commitment to this venture since its inception. We would also like to thank all the contributors for their prompt response and for making the Delphi Conference such a memorable event. Finally, the editors wish to express their appreciation to Mrs Mary Maroyannis and Mrs Annebeth Rosenboom of Kluwer Law International for their role in overseeing the technical details of publishing.
