

COMPILERS

ANTHONY REID is Professor of Southeast Asian History and Convenor of the Project on the Economic History of Southeast Asia (ECHOSEA) at the Research School of Pacific and Asian Studies, Australian National University (ANU). His books include the two-volume Southeast Asia in the Age of Commerce, c.1450–1680 (1988–93).

DAVID BULBECK has a Ph.D. in Prehistory from the ANU, and has lectured in the Centre for Archeology at the University of Western Australia. He currently holds an ARC Fellowship at the Department of Archeology and Anthropology at the ANU. He worked on this volume as a Research Assistant in the ECHOSEA Project, 1990–93.

TAN LAY CHENG has a BSc. in Biology from Wheaton College, Illinois, and an MA in Environmental Design from the University of Calgary. She was a Research Assistant at the Research School of Pacific and Asian Studies, ANU, from 1990–92. She is currently a consultant in Penang, Malaysia.

WU YIQI studied English at Lijiang University, Xiamen, China, and has a BA degree in Economics from the ANU. She was a Research Assistant in ECHOSEA from 1993 to 1994, and is currently working in Sydney.