

BRILL

Call for Papers

Reading List

Biblical Interpretation encourages biblical scholars to be increasingly conversant with disciplines across the humanities.

The journal's Reading List invites brief encapsulations (250–400 words) of books published in the humanities within the last three years that describe 1) how the book might advance conversations in the field and 2) what is distinctive about the title and its method and/or objects of analysis.

To propose a title for reviewing, please contact the Reading List editor, Maia Kotrosits, maiakotrosits@gmail.com.