Scope

NAN NÜ (NANU), now also including twentieth century China, is an interdisciplinary, international, peer-reviewed journal featuring original studies related to men, women, and gender in the fields of Chinese history, literature, linguistics and language, anthropology, archeology, art and music, law, philosophy, medicine/science, and religion. The journal discusses the subject to China today. Furthermore NAN NÜ contains a book review section on recent publications in women's and gender studies. The journal occasionally features review articles and reports about important developments in gender studies. To best reach a wide spectrum of researchers, NAN NÜ is written in English.

Ethical and Legal Conditions

The publication of a manuscript in a peer-reviewed work is expected to follow standards of ethical behavior for all parties involved in the act of publishing: authors, editors, and reviewers. Authors, editors, and reviewers should thoroughly acquaint themselves with Brill's publication ethics, which may be downloaded here: brill.com/page/ethics/publication-ethics-cope-compliance.

Submission

Authors should submit manuscripts by e-mail to the Editors-in-Chief, Prof. Louise Edwards (louise.edwards@unsw.edu.au) and Prof. Maram Epstein (maram@uoregon.edu).

Language

Manuscripts should be written in English. Spelling (British or American) should be consistent throughout.

Transliteration

Authors should italicize the names of books and journals, and the transliteration of Chinese/Japanese words (and thus, NOT underline nor use bold). Characters should NOT be in simplified form. Archaic (or non-standard) Chinese characters should be supplied by the author in camera-ready form (minimum 600 dpi printout).

Non-Roman Scripts

Authors are requested to utilize the Hanyu pinyin Romanization system for Chinese (please remember that this system does not use hyphenation) and the Hepburn system for Japanese.

Instructions for Authors

At first mention, Romanization of Chinese or Japanese terms in italics should be followed by the appropriate characters and, in parentheses, the English translation. Neither characters nor translations need be supplied for well-known titles or terms with which the Nan Nü reader would be expected to be familiar, or for the names of Asian publishers.

Submission Requirements

Format

The entire text, including the abstract, notes, references, tables, extracts, and quotations must be double spaced, and saved in a single file.

To assure anonymity, there should be no references to the author anywhere in the manuscript text or the notes. Please include a separate file to serve as the 'cover sheet' with the manuscript title, author's name, professional affiliation, complete mailing address, e-mail address, and telephone number.

Figures

Authors are welcome to make use of black and white photos, maps, and other graphics to illustrate their articles.

Figures should be submitted as separate source files in .eps, .tif, or .jpg format, in a size suitable for the typesetting area of the journal. The resolution of these files should be at least 300 dpi for half-tone figures, and 600 dpi for line drawings. Number the files, and indicate in the manuscript where they are to appear (Fig. 1 here).

The text in a figure must be legible, and should not be smaller than corps 7. The size of this lettering for any text in a figure should be the same for all figures in the manuscript.

Endnotes

When citing materials, authors are requested to adhere as much as possible to the following models.

Publication*Proofs*

Upon acceptance, a PDF of the article proofs will be sent to each author by e-mail to check carefully for factual and typographic errors. Authors are responsible for checking these proofs and are strongly urged to make use of the Comment & Markup toolbar to note their corrections directly on the proofs. At this stage in the production process only minor corrections are allowed. Alterations to the original manuscript at this stage will result in considerable delay in publication. Proofs should be returned promptly. Authors should also be aware that the publisher reserves the right to charge a fee for any changes made to final proofs other than corrections or compositor errors.

E-offprints

A PDF file of the article will be supplied free of charge by the publisher to authors for personal use. Brill is a RoMEO yellow publisher. The Author retains the right to self-archive the submitted (pre-peer-review) version of the article at any time. The submitted version of an article is the author's version that has not been peer-reviewed, nor had any value added to it by Brill (such as formatting or copy editing). The Author retains the right to self-archive the accepted (peer-reviewed) version without any embargo period. The accepted version means the version which has been accepted for publication and contains all revisions made after peer reviewing and copy editing, but has not yet been typeset in the publisher's lay-out. The publisher's lay-out must not be used in any repository or on any website (brill.com/resources/authors/publishing-books-brill/self-archiving-rights).

Consent to Publish*Transfer of Copyright*

By submitting a manuscript, the author agrees that the copyright for the article is transferred to the publisher if and when the article is accepted for publication. For that purpose the author needs to sign the Consent to Publish which will be sent with the first proofs of the manuscript.

Open Access

Should the author wish to publish the article in Open Access he/she can choose the Brill Open option. This allows for non-exclusive Open Access publication under a Creative Commons license in exchange for an Article Publication Charge (APC), upon signing a special Brill Open Consent to Publish Form. More information on Brill Open can be found on brill.com/brillopen.
